

BATTLE HARVARD STUDENTS

New York Times (1857-Current file); Feb 12, 1927;

ProQuest Historical Newspapers The New York Times (1851 - 2006)

pg. 3

BATTLE HARVARD STUDENTS

Cambridge Police Arrest Forty Youths in College Square.

CAMBRIDGE, Saturday, Feb. 12 (AP).
—More than two score young men, a number of whom were said to be Harvard University students, were arrested early this morning after a battle with the police in Harvard Square, following a disturbance which started at a midnight performance in a nearby theatre.

Two men were said to have been slightly injured and a policeman seriously.

The trouble was reported to have started when a policeman outside the theatre attempted to arrest a man for disorderly conduct. Those inside the house piled into the street and a call for reserves was sounded.

After the arrests a large crowd gathered in the Harvard yard but the city police were dissuaded from entering by college officers. Those arrested were held on charges of disturbing the peace.

Traffic was paralyzed while the police and students battled in Harvard Square.